

WORLD LION DAY

An animal's environment is very important for its health and wellbeing. This is why we need to keep them in their natural habitats.

Lions are the second largest cats in the world. They help to keep ecosystems balanced. As top predators in their environments, Lions prey on sick, old and vulnerable animals that would otherwise not survive and may spread diseases amongst their herds.

When Lions are placed in captive environments, it makes them stressed, which can lead to various health problems, and they could even start to behave differently.

Places like the Kruger National Park, Serengeti National Park and Okavango Delta are great to visit to see lions in their natural habitat. You can also visit places called "True Wildlife Sanctuaries" where wild animals that have been rescued from bad situations can live happy lives.

Always remember, a true sanctuary does not breed, trade or allow humans to touch or hold their animals.

WORDSEARCH

Look at the wordsearch puzzle below and find the following words in the puzzle.

ROAR

PRIDE

CUBS

LION

RESCUED

PAWS

SANCTUARY

KING

HABITATS

WILDLIFE

I	S	T	A	T	H	O	S	I	A	E	N	L	B
I	B	P	S	N	L	R	E	A	A	W	C	T	U
R	E	P	R	I	D	E	D	K	L	L	C	C	E
E	C	A	S	S	I	S	N	I	A	T	A	P	R
S	S	F	T	C	A	S	H	N	S	L	N	S	N
C	E	R	A	O	G	N	L	G	B	P	R	R	D
U	F	I	T	R	D	S	C	I	U	R	A	A	U
E	I	O	I	K	R	I	T	T	C	A	I	E	D
D	L	A	B	I	U	T	S	O	U	I	R	R	K
L	D	B	A	W	N	S	U	N	P	A	W	S	W
I	L	T	H	D	R	N	I	N	G	G	R	C	E
O	I	A	W	T	H	A	R	E	S	S	H	Y	W
N	W	U	U	G	I	E	O	N	O	W	S	T	U
A	C	R	D	S	E	P	T	R	D	F	S	A	C

